Licensing

With the introduction of the Licensing Act and the Gambling Act several years ago, the entertainment and leisure sector suddenly got a whole lot more complicated.

The new legislation is something of a minefield - but our knowledgeable experts at Davis Blank Furniss can make it a walk in the park.

We offer specialist advice and assistance on all areas of liquor, entertainment and gambling law. We know all the new provisions inside out so we can tell you exactly what's what, and exactly what you need to do, whether you're making an application for a Premises Licence, or need help putting together all the necessary documentation to put forward with your application, such as writing policies.

Our service extends far beyond help and advice for companies subject to licensing laws however. With departments specialising in commercial property and corporate law, we can get involved with any aspect of setting up and running businesses in the leisure industry, from starting up to changing premises.

Our expert licensing service covers:

- > Application for a Premises Licence
- > Changes to existing arrangements
- > Representation at Licensing Committee hearings
- > Policy writing
- > Advice for start up businesses
- > Transfer of licensed businesses
- > Property sale and purchase
